Elmsford, NY – October 7, 2009.

The Westchester County Association announced today that Mitch Taube, CEO of Digiscribe, will receive the APEX Award for Professionals and Entrepreneurs at its November 12, 2009 Fall Leadership Reception.

Digiscribe is an established Westchester-based business operating in the county since 2002, providing paperless office solutions to companies of all sizes.

“We believe Mitch is an appropriate recipient of this award, as he has demonstrated professional excellence within the Westchester County business community. His innovation and vision within the business arena and his commitment to Westchester’s economic vitality embody the spirit of this award”, stated William M. Mooney Jr., President of WCA.

“I am honored that the WCA has chosen to present me with this award. Digiscribe is committed to improving the profitability and sustainability of Westchester County businesses.” said Mitch Taube, President of Digiscribe.

Mitch is a frequent speaker throughout Westchester County and the New York metropolitan area, educating business owners and managers on more efficiently and profitably running their companies with document scanning and document management systems.

Mitch has more than 25 years experience in the information services industry. Prior to founding Digiscribe, Taube founded and ran two other information services companies in Westchester.

The third annual Awards for Professional Excellence (APEX) ceremony will be the highlight of the Westchester County Association’s Fall Leadership Reception to be held November 12th at 1133 Westchester Avenue, White Plains, NY 5:30-8:30PM. The annual event attracts more than 600 members and guests.
